

ICSA Software International and Exel Informatique Group sign partnership agreement

London, United Kingdom, 27 July 2009 - ICSA Software International, the world's leading provider of entity management, compliance and corporate governance technology solutions, is pleased to announce an Alliance Partnership agreement with Exel Informatique Group, advisers and integrators of technology solutions in France and Switzerland.

This alliance will promote the distribution and implementation of ICSA Software's solutions in France and Switzerland and will enable companies to benefit from both the extensive compliance functionality of ICSA's Blueprint range of software and Exel's expertise in providing local compliance and governance solutions to some of France and Switzerland's largest companies.

Leading global and European enterprises, such as Publicis, Lafarge and Royal Ahold are already using Blueprint One World to more efficiently manage their legal entities, reduce duplication of work through controlled access to additional departments and centralise process control to strengthen corporate governance.

Mike Evans, Managing Director of ICSA Software International, added: "having already worked with Exel on a number of projects in France and Switzerland, I am pleased that we have been able to formalise our alliance with Exel which will enable ICSA software to continue its philosophy of delivering local expertise and support to French and Swiss corporates looking for a truly global governance and compliance system".

Francisco Vaquera, CEO of Exel Computer Group, said: "Blueprint OneWorld immediately drew our attention due to its numerous features and its capacity to adapt through the years. After many years of consulting and development for many international clients, Exel and Fidecia are now pleased to distribute and implement the solutions proposed by ICSA Software International".
