Institute

Qualifications and Training 2019

Developing governance skills and knowledge

Our services

ICSA: The Governance Institute is the international chartered qualifying and membership body for company secretaries and governance professionals. We train, qualify and support those working in governance at all levels.

Whether you are getting to grips with new governance responsibilities or are looking for a career that will set you on the fast track to working with the board, we are here to help.

Our unique portfolio of internationally – recognised qualifications develop the skills and understanding of those working in governance across the private, public and not-for-profit sectors. As an awarding body, we accredit specialist qualifications developed and delivered by partners, and our market-leading training courses give practical support to those in governance roles.

Our trusted qualifications and training will build your knowledge, skills and confidence in governance. Qualifying with ICSA also enables you to join our professional body as a member, providing recognition of your achievements via post-nominals access to a professional network and opportunities for ongoing support and development across your career.

The core competencies for governance

Governance is the system that identifies who has power and accountability and who makes decisions. It enables the management and the board of an organisation to deal effectively with the challenges of running it.

Good governance practice ensures that appropriate decision-making processes and controls are in place across the organisation so that the interests of all stakeholders (employees, investors, suppliers, donors, funders, volunteers, beneficiaries, clients, regulators and customers) are balanced.

The need for organisations to demonstrate good governance is greater than ever and having trained and qualified professionals to deliver it is increasingly important. The professional development services that we provide are valued by employers and practitioners alike as a benchmark of quality.

The practice, understanding and values that enable good governance

ICSA's Competency Framework for Governance Professionals defines the behaviours required for success in a company secretarial or governance professional role. It provides a clear, practical picture of what practitioners need to know, do and believe at different levels of seniority.

Understanding

Working in governance requires an understanding of law, finance, strategy, risk, compliance, company secretarial practice, boardroom dynamics and organisational culture. This knowledge is often developed through formal qualifications and maintained through ongoing professional development to keep technical expertise up to date.

Practice

Company secretaries and governance professionals apply their technical understanding through practical activities that support the board in its role. In this, the ability to plan and organise; anticipate and solve problems; advise upon and accurately record decisions; and to influence and enable others are paramount. These skills are developed through training activities and refined in practice.

Values

The values that underpin governance roles play a big part in attracting people to the profession and help them to succeed within it. These include the ability to 'do the right thing', maintain independence and remain purposeful and open minded. Values are often supported and reinforced by professional networks, such as ICSA membership.

Learning with ICSA

The student experience

Resources

Learning resources for ICSA qualifications are provided via a secure online portal which gives you access to past papers, model answers, examiners reports, sample study plans and more. Depending on the short course qualification, tuition can be by webinar, or by self-study; additional support from tuition partners may also be available. Study texts for each course are available in print and digital formats. Our friendly learning support team is also on hand to answer any questions about your studies.

Membership

Studying for ICSA qualifications requires you to be a student member. Joining our active community of governance professionals gives you lots of additional benefits, including access to our guidance, magazine and helpline, membership of your local ICSA branch, eligibility for our mentoring scheme, invitations to local events and highly discounted conference tickets.

Tuition

Whilst ICSA provides quality webinar-based learning for students on our short course certificates, we do not offer formal tuition for our core qualifying programme or international finance qualifications. Instead, we work closely with registered tuition partners who offer face-to-face tuition, distance learning and revision class options. Discover more on page 21 and on our website.

The training experience

Resources

Delegates on ICSA training courses enjoy practical one-day classroom -based sessions delivered by expert presenters and receive comprehensive course packs which include slides and accompanying notes to take away.

Further reading

Delegates who want to explore the subject at hand more deeply can purchase the companion professional books at preferential rates.

Post-course support

All ICSA training delegates can take up six months' free professional subscription to our knowledge base, magazine and email update service to support and extend their learning. ICSA members can pass this benefit on to a colleague.

Membership

Being an ICSA member demonstrates your professional standing and gives you the support of an active national and international community of governance professionals. We offer several levels of membership, each of which is renewed on an annual basis.

Student membership is for all those studying for ICSA qualifications. It provides access to all membership services.

Affiliated membership is for those who have either achieved all four Part One modules on the ICSA qualifying programme, or have passed one of ICSA's Certificate or Diploma qualifications. Affiliated members use the post-nominals CIS (Affiliated).

Graduate membership is for those who have completed the qualifying programme or post-graduate equivalent and are working towards the experience requirement of full Chartered membership. Graduates use the post-nominals GradICSA.

Associateship

is the first level of Chartered membership for those who have achieved GradICSA status and have six years' relevant work experience (this can be reduced to three if you hold a degree). Associate members use the post-nominals ACIS and the professional designations of Chartered Secretary and Chartered Governance Professional.

Fellowship

is the highest level of Chartered members for those who have achieved GradICSA status and have eight years' relevant work experience, three of which are in a senior role. Fellows use the post-nominals FCIS and the professional designations of Chartered Secretary and Chartered Governance Professional.

Professional Subscription

Professional subscription is a service that provides access to ICSA's knowledge services for non-members who want to stay up to date with the latest in governance theory and practice. Subscription is renewed on an annual basis.

Become Chartered

Chartered status is the gold standard for company secretaries and governance professionals. It shows that you have the knowledge, skills and experience to take on a job with significant and wide-ranging responsibilities. In larger organisations, this may be within the secretariat or governance team or as part of a professional service team. In medium and smaller organisations, this may be in the sole governance or company secretarial role.

Qualifying as a Chartered Governance Professional or Chartered Secretary is achieved by completing the ICSA qualifying programme or an ICSA-validated postgraduate programme at one of our partner universities (see pages 22-23 for postgraduate options).

The ICSA qualifying programme

The start of your journey towards GradICSA

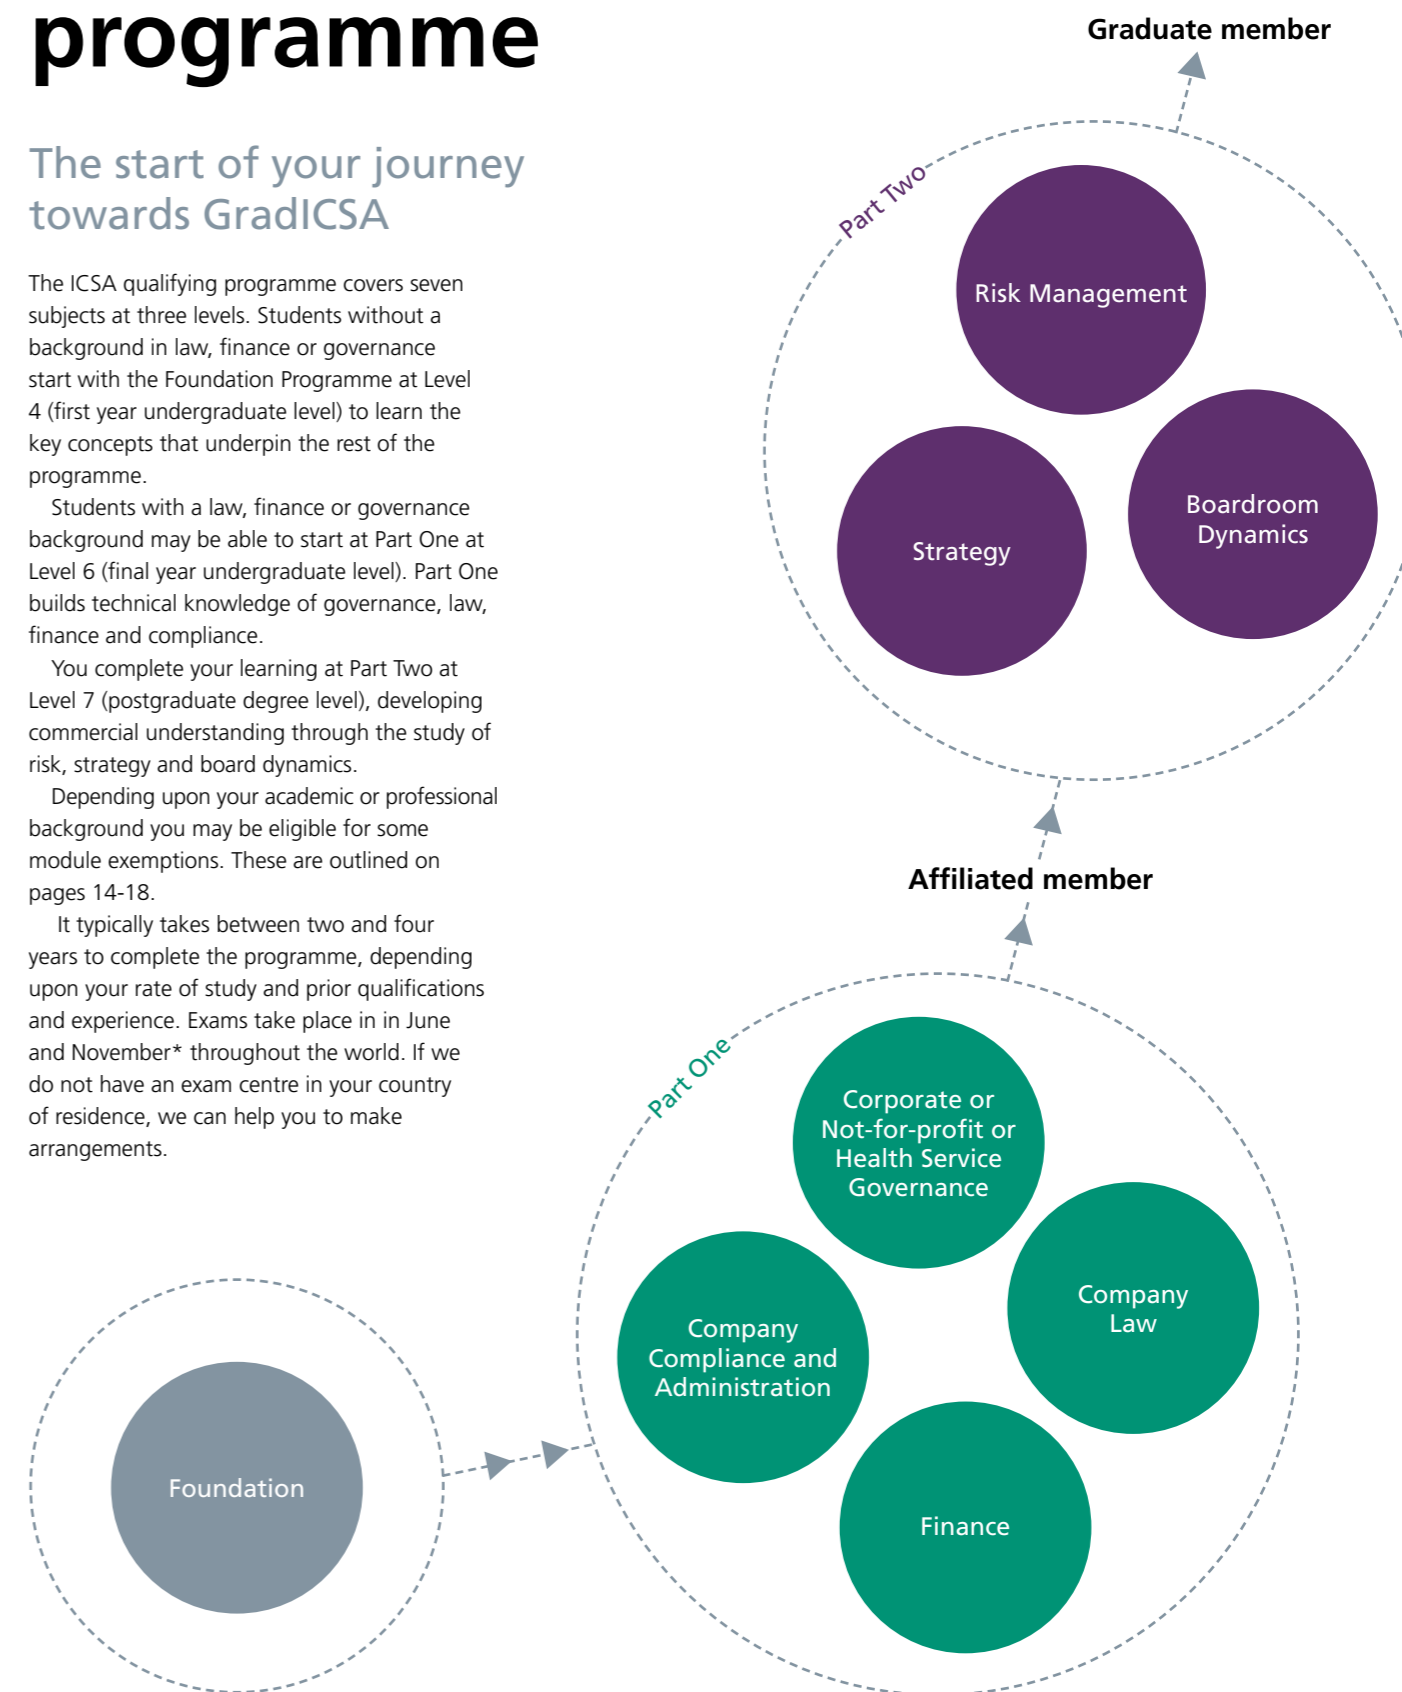

The ICSA qualifying programme covers seven subjects at three levels. Students without a background in law, finance or governance start with the Foundation Programme at Level 4 (first year undergraduate level) to learn the key concepts that underpin the rest of the programme.

Students with a law, finance or governance background may be able to start at Part One at Level 6 (final year undergraduate level). Part One builds technical knowledge of governance, law, finance and compliance.

You complete your learning at Part Two at Level 7 (postgraduate degree level), developing commercial understanding through the study of risk, strategy and board dynamics.

Depending upon your academic or professional background you may be eligible for some module exemptions. These are outlined on pages 14-18.

It typically takes between two and four years to complete the programme, depending upon your rate of study and prior qualifications and experience. Exams take place in June and November* throughout the world. If we do not have an exam centre in your country of residence, we can help you to make arrangements.

*Health Service Governance and Not-for-profit Governance exams take place in June only.

The Foundation Programme

The first step in your journey towards GradICSA

The ICSA Foundation Programme provides a broad introduction to businesses, how they are governed, maintained and financially managed, and the laws to which they must adhere.

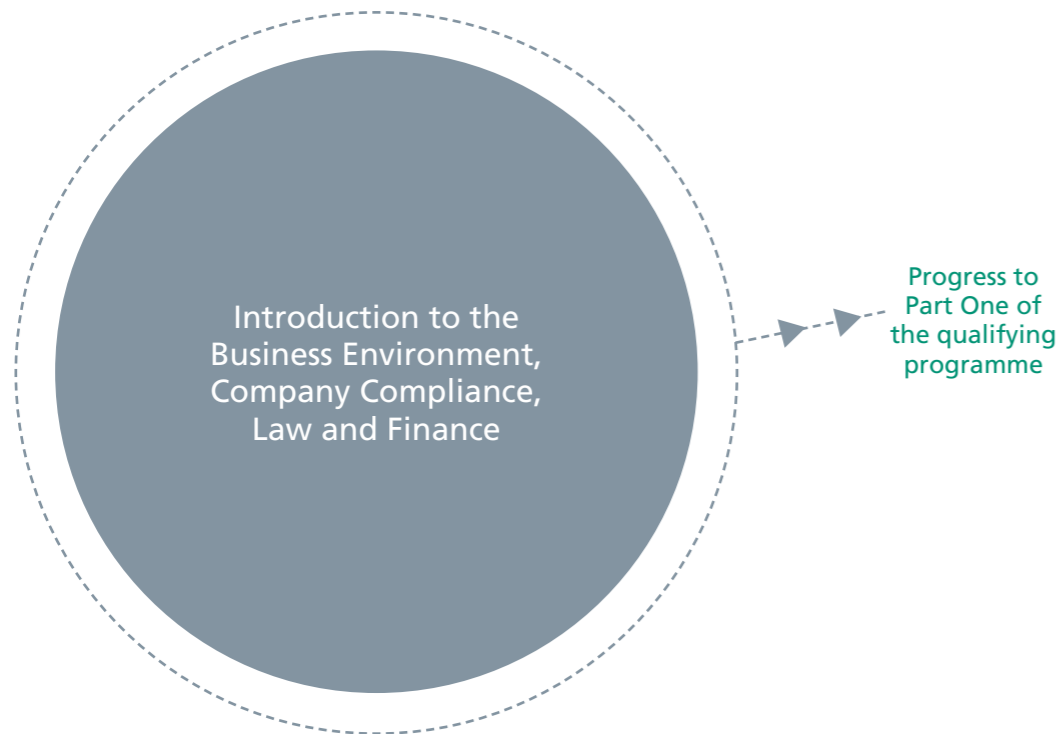

The knowledge and skills gained through the Foundation Programme prepare you for studying Part One of the qualifying programme.

The Foundation Programme requires over 200 hours of study. It is supported by a study text and digital learning materials. Assessment is by a single exam which is offered twice a year in June and November.

Exam fee

	UK and overseas	Reduced rate
Foundation Programme exam fee	£225	£153

You will also need to pay a one-time registration fee and join ICSA as a student member to sit our exams (page 19).

Part One entry

Recognising your expertise

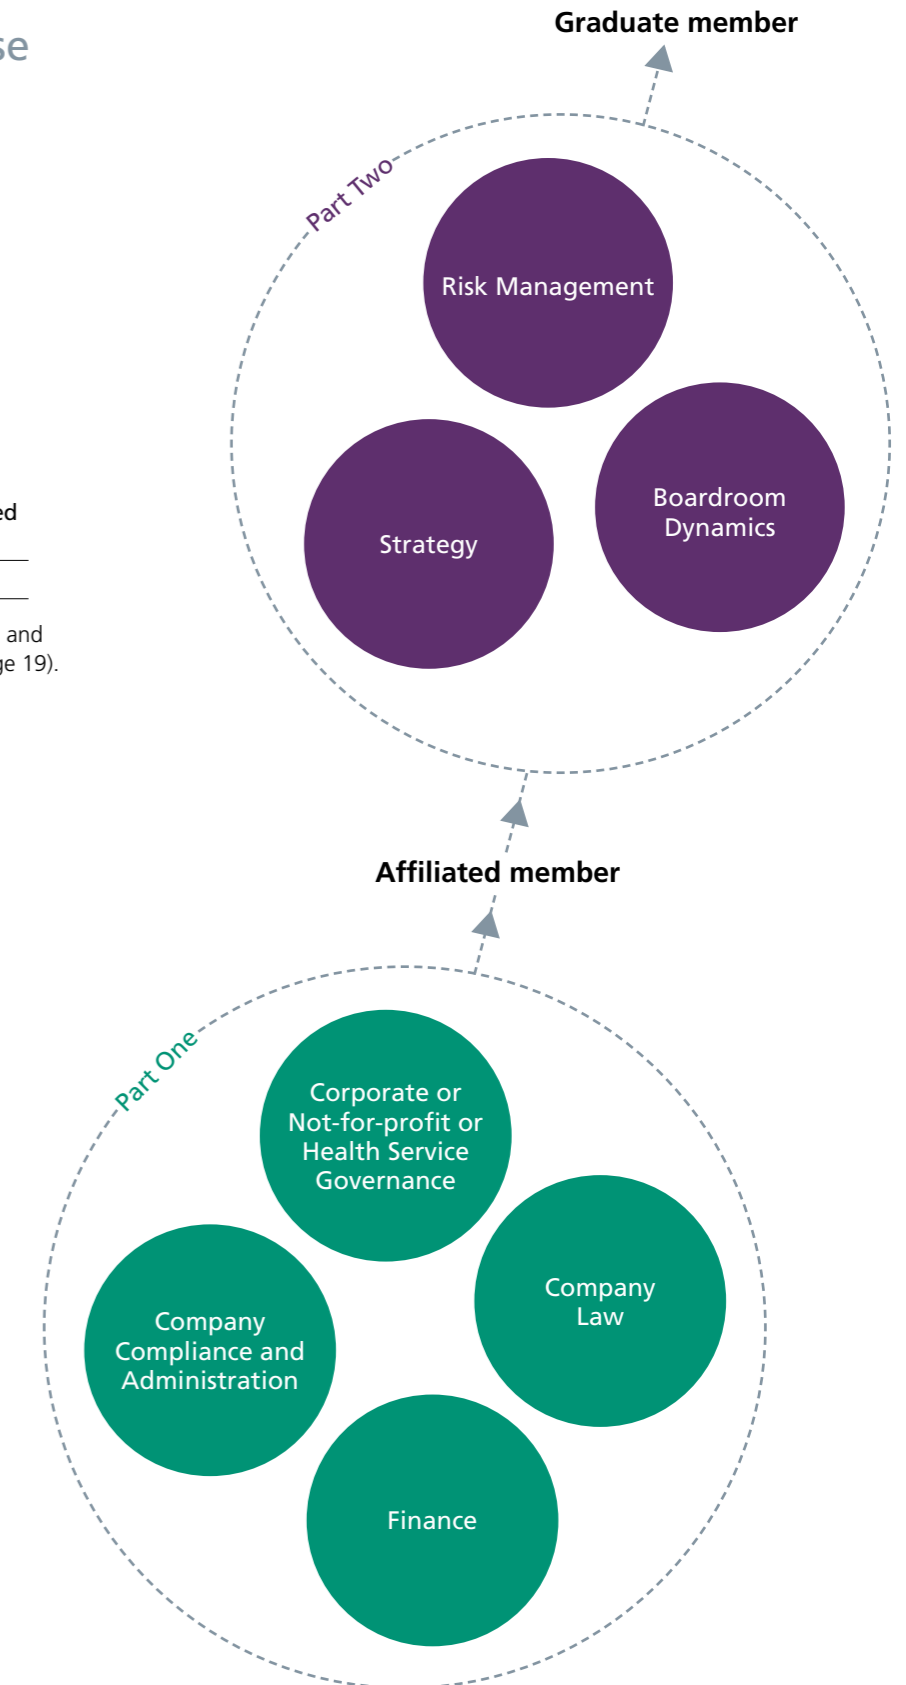

If you already hold a degree-level qualification and have experience in a governance or compliance-related role, you may be able to start your studies at Part One.

Students with an HND in Business Management, Law or Accounting, or those with IFA Level 5 may be eligible for direct entry at Part One. We may also consider any other degree combined with five years' relevant experience in a governance or compliance-related role.

Module fees

You will also need to pay a one-time registration fee and join ICSA as a student member to sit our exams (page 19).

Related degree entry

Law

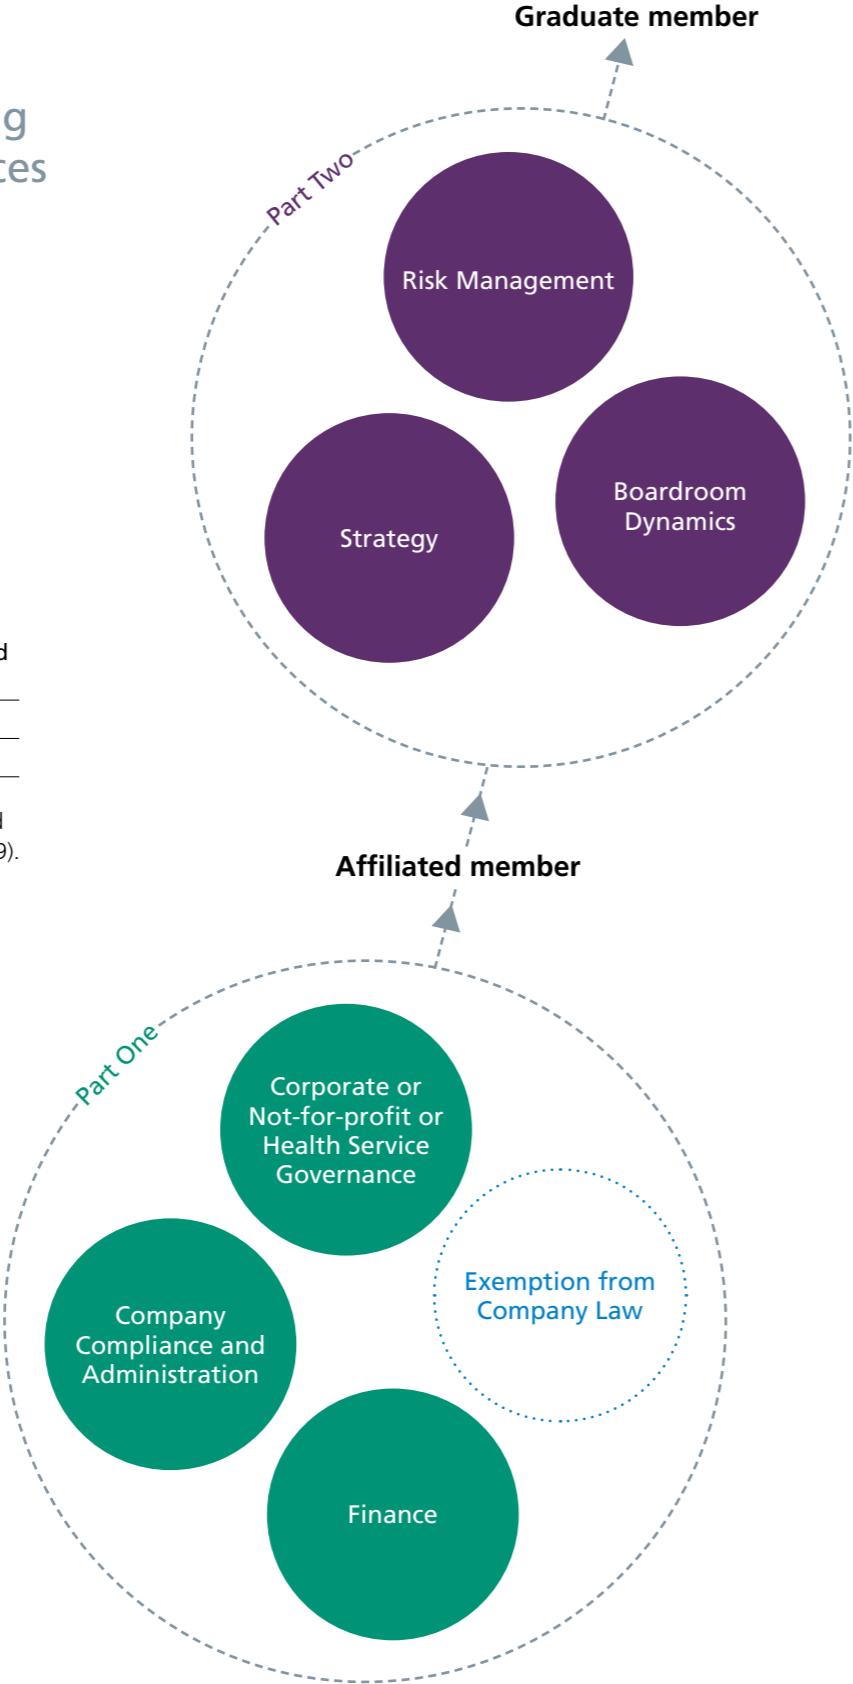

Law develops understanding of the processes and practices that underpin governance

Law degrees offer a great start to a governance professional's career and will help you make rapid progress in the early stages of the qualifying programme. Having an approved* law degree means you will not be required to complete the Part One Company Law module.

Module fees	UK and overseas	Reduced rate
Exemption fee (per module)	£225	£153
Exam fee (per module)	£225	£153

You will also need to pay a one-time registration fee and join ICSA as a student member to sit our exams (page 19).

*Approved degrees are issued by UK universities or hold equivalent status to a UK qualification as defined by UK National Recognition Information Centre (UK NARIC).

Finance

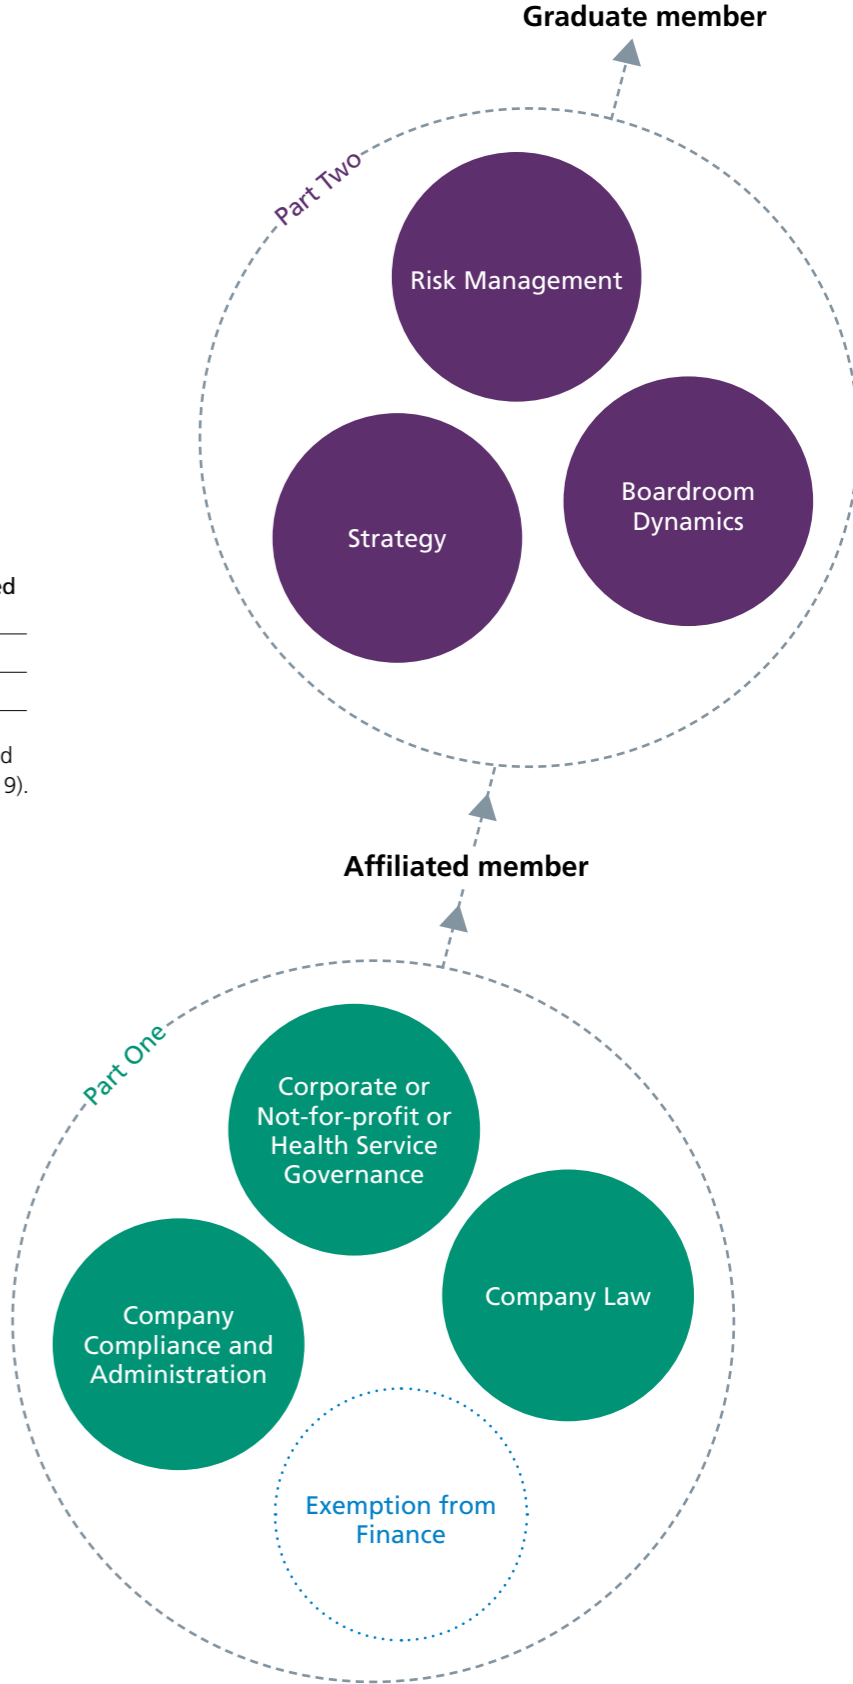

Financial knowledge is essential to effective governance

An approved* degree in finance prepares you well for the ICSA qualifying programme and will exempt you from the exam for the Part One module in Finance to help you to progress more quickly.

Module fees	UK and overseas	Reduced rate
Exemption fee (per module)	£225	£153

Professional entry

Law

Build upon your professional understanding and experience of law

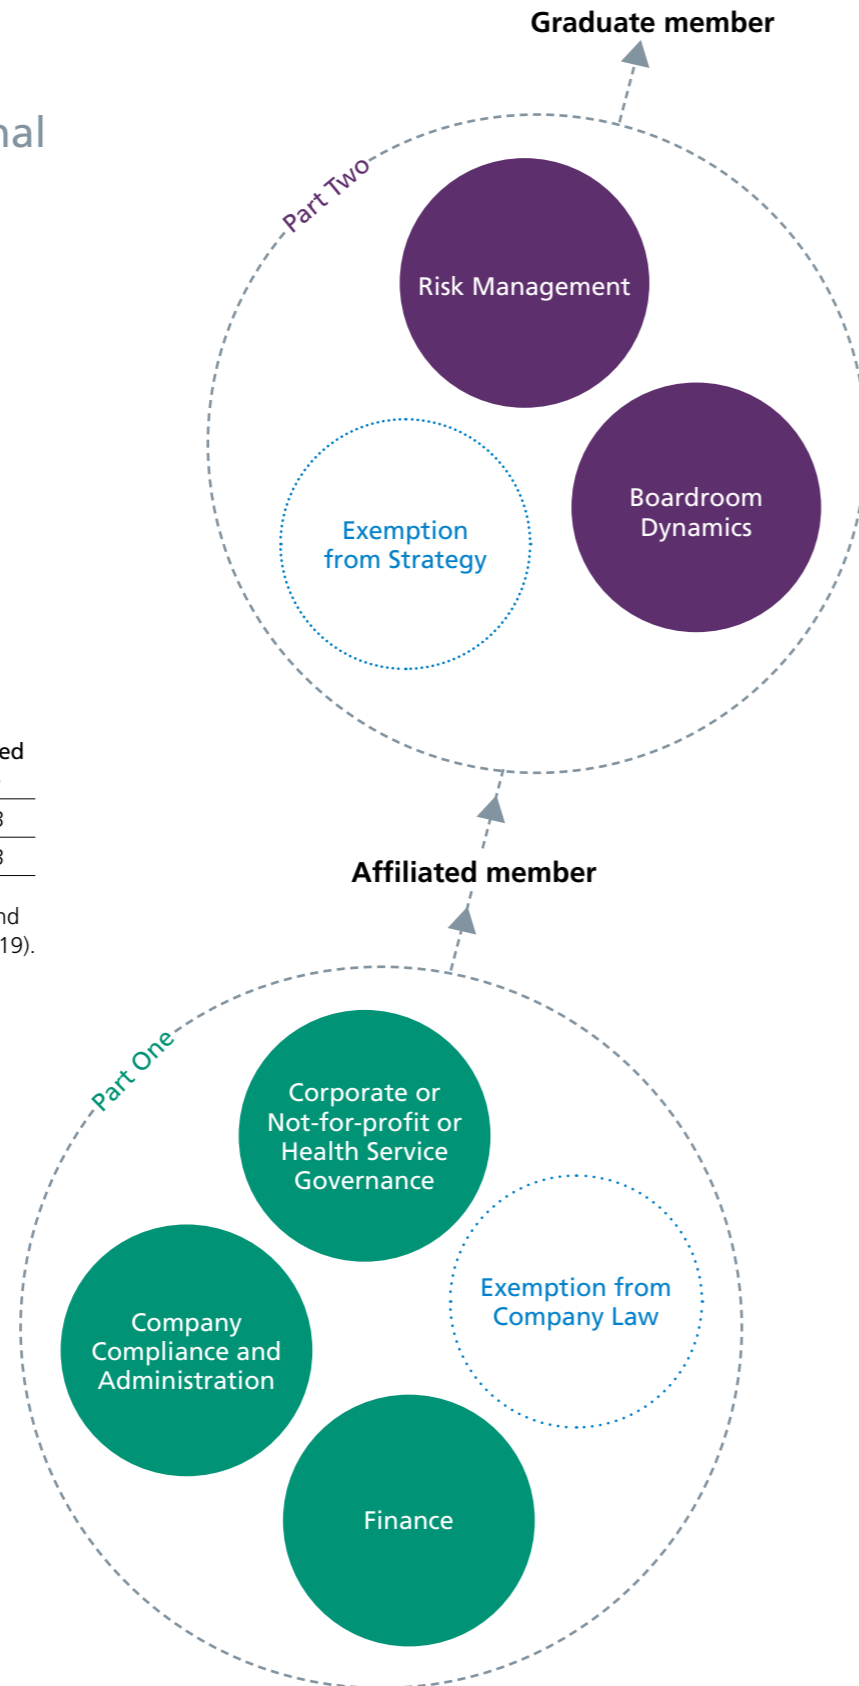

If you are a member of the Bar or Law Society for your jurisdiction, or compliant with the Qualified Lawyers Transfer Scheme Regulations, you can receive exemptions from up to two exams: Company Law and, subject to previous knowledge and experience, Strategy.

This route is typically for those with fewer than five years' relevant professional experience. If you have more, see page 18 for details of our Fast Track Professional entry route.

Module fees

	UK and overseas	Reduced rate
Exemption fee (per module)	£225	£153

You will also need to pay a one-time registration fee and join ICSA as a student member to sit our exams (page 19).

Accounting

Consolidate your accountancy training and grow your influence

If you are a qualified member of a recognised accountancy body, you may be entitled to exemptions from up to two exams.

You must be a member of one of the following professional bodies to qualify for this route and submit evidence of relevant experience to gain exemption from the Strategy module:

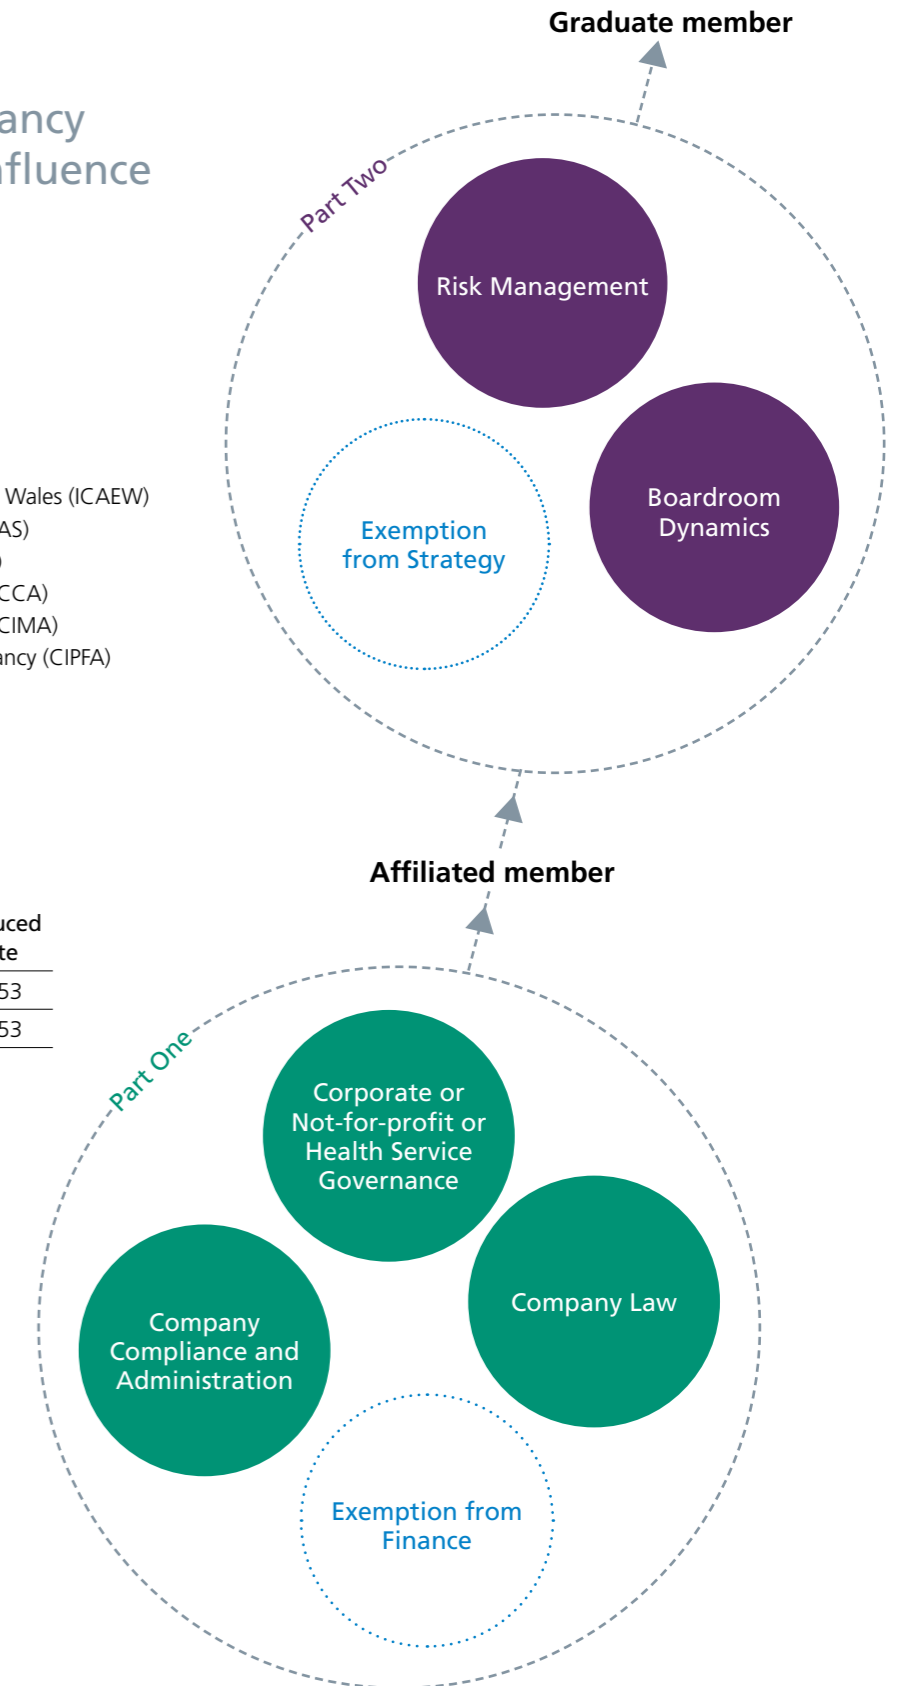

- Institute of Chartered Accountants in England and Wales (ICAEW)
- Institute of Chartered Accountants of Scotland (ICAS)
- Institute of Chartered Accountants in Ireland (ICAI)
- Association of Chartered Certified Accountants (ACCA)
- Chartered Institute of Management Accountants (CIMA)
- Chartered Institute of Public Finance and Accountancy (CIPFA)

This route is typically for those with fewer than five years' relevant professional experience. If you have more, see page 18 for details of our Fast Track Professional entry route.

You will also need to pay a one-time registration fee and join ICSA as a student member to sit our exams (page 19).

Fast Track Professional

Accelerate your route to Chartered membership

If you are a qualified law or finance practitioner with more than five years' experience, you could quickly become Chartered with our Fast Track Professional route. All we require is that you take two modules: Corporate Governance and Risk Management*. These will give you the core professional knowledge required of Chartered Secretaries and Governance Professionals.

As a lawyer, you will need to be a member of the Bar or Law Society for your jurisdiction, or compliant with the Qualified Lawyers Transfer Regulations.

As an accountant, you must be a member of one of the following professional bodies to qualify for this route:

- Institute of Chartered Accountants in England and Wales (ICAEW)
- Institute of Chartered Accountants of Scotland (ICAS)
- Institute of Chartered Accountants in Ireland (ICAI)
- Association of Chartered Certified Accountants (ACCA)
- Chartered Institute of Management Accountants (CIMA)
- Chartered Institute of Public Finance Accountancy (CIPFA).

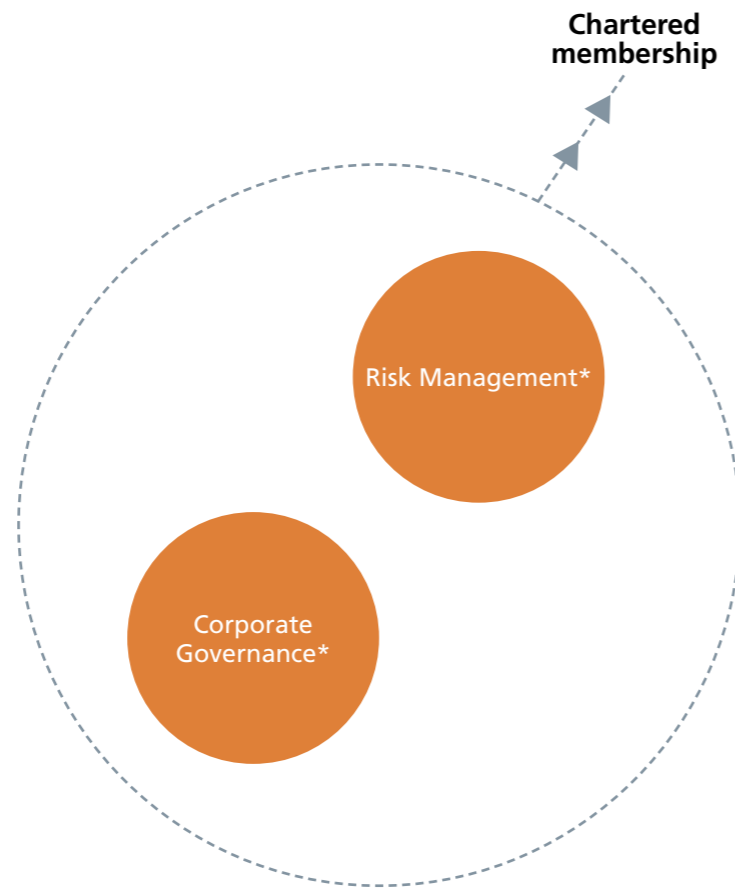

Single fee

	UK and overseas	Reduced rate
Registration, student membership, exemptions and exam entry	£1,845	£1,230

This single fee covers ICSA registration and membership for your first year, exemption and exam fees, plus six months' access to CSPOnline.

Additional fees may be payable to re-sit or postpone exams.

*If you are registering for exams before 3 April 2019, please contact our student services team for more information about applying for Fast Track.

Costing your studies

Taking the ICSA qualifying programme will involve paying an annual student membership fee and the specific examination or exemption fees for each module as you progress through the qualification. Do remember to account for both when planning your study. You should also factor in the costs of your study materials, which are charged separately, and budget for tuition charges too. Whilst we do not provide tuition services, a list of our registered partners can be found on page 21 and on our website.

Full fees apply for students in the UK, EU and Crown Dependencies. Students from many other countries are eligible for reduced rates. To help you or your employer plan for investing in your development, the table below gives an overview of the typical costs you will incur as you complete the programme.

Qualification cost summary	UK & EU	Reduced rate
1. A one-off registration fee paid at the beginning of your studies	£135	£75
2. Your annual student membership fee, due for renewal in August each year
12 months	£185	£130
6 months	£92.50	£65
3. Module fees, paid on a subject-by-subject basis as you progress through the qualification
Exam entry	£225	£153
Exemption	£225	£153
4. Study texts in print or digital editions for each module	£45 each
5. Tuition fees per module, depending upon your chosen provider	£350–£600 per module

How to apply

The best way to apply for the ICSA qualifying programme is online. Our website will guide you through the entry options that are relevant to your existing qualifications and experience.

If you are applying for one of the exemption routes described on pages 14-18 you will need to upload certified copies of your relevant academic or professional qualifications, and transcripts or evidence to show your membership of your professional body, to support your application.

On becoming an ICSA student, you will be asked for your commitment to abide by our Student Rules and Regulations and follow our Code of Professional Ethics and Conduct.

These undertakings help to ensure that you are observing high professional standards from the very start of your career in governance.

Registered tuition providers for the ICSA qualifying programme

The ICSA qualifying programme can be studied independently, but we recommend that you take up tuition to help you to achieve your qualification. We have a number of partners who are registered to provide tuition for our programme in person and through distance learning. Others have registration applications in progress and offer or plan to offer tuition in 2019. Further details and links to these providers are on our website.

Postgraduate partners

GradICSA status can also be achieved by passing a validated postgraduate qualification with an ICSA university partner. These postgraduate qualifications cover approximately 80% of the same content as the ICSA qualifying programme and may offer fast track opportunities and exemptions for students with relevant experience. Most of these courses are flexible, allowing you to choose between studying full-time over a year or part-time over two.

When you join a university programme which is validated as a joint-award with ICSA, you should register as an ICSA student, this is the first step to becoming an ICSA member.

As an ICSA student, when you complete the university programme you can then go on to become an ICSA Graduate. This means that when you gain enough relevant work experience, you can apply to become a full member of ICSA, and be a Chartered Secretary.

The delivery of good governance at your academy or multi-academy trust is vital to building a lasting and stable environment that enables your students to thrive.

This Level 4 qualification has been created to help meet the need for effective governance in academy schools. It helps you to develop the knowledge and skills you need to develop, maintain and enhance professional standards of governance at your academy or multi-academy trust. It specifically focuses on the governance needs of multi-academy trusts, and on how high standards in governance can be put into practice even across multiple sites.

If you are a clerk, trustee or governor, or work in a governance role in a new or converted academy, and are looking to professionalise your governance capabilities, this qualification will provide the skills you need.

Content

The course requires 200 hours' study time over nine months. The content comprises four compulsory modules which cover:

- Legislative and regulatory framework
- Governance
- Risk, compliance and policies
- Financial management

Benefits

You will gain:

- insight into how to support your school or MAT in navigating new financial systems, controls and procedures after academy conversion;
- essential skills into how to address matters of poor governance and lack of accountability; and
- in-depth knowledge that helps you to provide solutions for governance challenges and establish robust governance practices in your school or MAT.

The impact a charity can have depends on an effective understanding of charity law and governance. Navigating complex legal and regulatory structures and understanding how they relate to effective governance is essential in helping your charity to fulfil its purpose.

This Level 4 qualification provides an introduction to the legal and regulatory framework around charities in England and Wales, and how this affects charities in relation to issues such as governance, sources of income, and stewardship of assets. If you work for a charity in a role such as secretary, board clerk, head of governance, director, or any other administrative role, this qualification will help you understand the legal framework specific to the charity sector to help you ensure your organisation remains compliant while pursuing its aims.

Content

The course requires 200 hours' study time over nine months. The qualification covers:

- Charity law
- Structures and legal forms
- Compliance and regulations
- Governance
- Sources of income
- Stewardship of funds and assets

Benefits

You will gain:

- insight into how poor governance and lack of accountability can cause reputational damage and organisational failure;
- detailed knowledge of the Charity Governance Code, and how to apply its principles;
- knowledge of the legal duties required of charity trustees; and
- the skills to help your organisation expertly navigate legal and regulatory requirements and develop solid governance practices.

FINANCE AND COMPLIANCE QUALIFICATIONS

International Finance and Administration qualifications

Rigorous, respected and regulator recognised

The International Finance and Administration (IFA) suite of qualifications have been developed in response to the increasing complexity of providing financial services across national boundaries, and the growing demand for greater transparency.

Financial services that operate in offshore environments are subject to multiple regulatory requirements, and our courses provide a rigorous, internationally recognised qualification to help ensure compliance in global financial services.

Gaining an IFA qualification will equip you for working in financial services, management and regulatory compliance across many offshore jurisdictions. An IFA qualification from ICSA is valued by employers who operate globally and know the benefits of having qualified professional staff with the relevant regulatory knowledge.

IFA qualifications have regulator recognition in the following jurisdictions:

- British Virgin Islands
- Bermuda
- Cayman Islands
- Guernsey
- Isle of Man
- Jersey
- Seychelles

The Governance Leadership Programme enables you to develop understanding, skills and confidence to take your performance from good to outstanding. Designed for experienced company secretaries and governance professionals, it gives you the skills to meet the challenges that you face at a career crossroads, in addressing a big professional challenge, or when seeking greater passion and purpose in your work.

Delivery

You will take part in a series of workshops delivered across four days. You will learn from your peers in a positive and welcoming environment and benefit from exclusive access to the Programme Director, Anna Bateson and inspiring after-dinner speakers.

Post-programme, individual diagnostic sessions support the practical application of your learning to reflect on your strengths and aspirations. This reflective approach results in a personalised action plan and commitment to apply new thinking and behaviours. You will also benefit from post-course access to further mentoring and support.

Content

Rather than focus on the day-to-day technical aspects of governance, the programme develops your ability to understand and connect with strategy and stakeholders and on managing emotions and relationships to achieve positive results.

The programme structure covers:

- Day 1: The changing role of the governance professional
- Day 2: Strategy
- Day 3: Your strengths and potential
- Day 4: Personal development session

Benefits

Gain the insights, strategies and motivation to make a difference and meet with a broad network of likeminded people to support the next stage of your career.

The modular courses

Tailor the pace and content of the programme to suit your needs

The Governance Leadership Programme is also available as a modular programme. Modules can be taken consecutively or you can focus on those most relevant to you. You will be eligible for a 25% discount off the modular programme fees if you book all three together.

Strategic Skills for Governance Professionals

Become an enabler of strategy and elevate your board's performance

As you move beyond the position of a technical expert, your contribution to the strategy of your organisation becomes a crucial aspect of your role as a company secretary or governance professional. Knowing how to assess the organisational landscape through effective strategic analysis is part of your role as an expert. Knowing how to enact those insights is the essential skill that you will learn as you move from informing to enabling.

Influencing Skills for Governance Professionals

Understand the factors that drive organisational performance

The roles of governance professionals and company secretaries are changing. Today's professionals need to recognise the nuanced dynamics of their board to enable its effective operation. Addressing the real challenges you face in your day-to-day work and knowing how to manage and influence stakeholder relationships will move you to beyond the role of technical expert in your organisation to lead systemic and cultural change.

Leadership Skills for Governance Professionals

Know your strengths and understand how to develop your team

Leadership is a 360-degree activity that takes place across geographic, generational and gender boundaries and involves a complex web of stakeholders. You will explore what leadership means for company secretaries and governance professionals and how your strengths, styles and personal brand can combine to make an impact. This day will equip you with the skills to lead colleagues in the boardroom, in the secretariat and beyond.

Bespoke training

Training is an essential investment in developing the effectiveness of the people in your organisation. Training whole teams in key areas, as well as individuals, can deliver huge benefits too. It creates a shared environment for new knowledge and understanding, focuses on the issues in your particular organisation and market, and facilitates the development of plans to put good practice into action. What's more, whole team training can be a highly cost-effective solution to raising the performance, delivered in your offices, at a time that's convenient to you.

All ICSA training courses are available for bespoke delivery, wherever you are and whatever the size of your team. We regularly provide a bespoke training service to clients in the corporate, not-for-profit and public sectors, drawing upon extensive knowledge of company secretarial and governance practice and the expertise of our market-leading trainers.

Participants in bespoke training can also enjoy a complementary six month professional subscription to ICSA's knowledge services to extend and reinforce their learning.
